

Pollinator Partnership's Keystone Society

POLLINATOR PARTNERSHIP

Protect their lives. Preserve ours.

The "Keystone" name draws on a connection between our thoughtful donors who have remembered Pollinator Partnership in their will or estate plan and pollinators, keystone species, that support ecosystems and other wildlife into the future.

Planned gifts are critically important to Pollinator Partnership's long term conservation efforts. Legacy gifts provide a source of support from individuals whose loyalty runs deep, and whose commitment to protecting pollinators and the environment is unwavering. Planned gifts may be applied to a specific program or initiative, such as pollinator habitat, honey bee health, monarch butterflies, and more. But perhaps the greatest benefit comes from undesignated gifts, which can be applied to issues as they arise and will be utilized for general programmatic support.
