

Proclamation

From the Governor of the State of Maryland

MARYLAND POLLINATOR WEEK JUNE 16-22, 2025

- WHEREAS, Pollinator species such as birds and insects are essential partners of farmers and ranchers in producing much of our food supply; and
- WHEREAS, Pollination plays a vital role in the health of our national forests and grasslands, which provide forage, fish and wildlife, timber, water, mineral resources, and recreational opportunities as well as enhanced economic development opportunities for communities; and
- WHEREAS, Pollinator species provide significant environmental benefits that are necessary for the different ecosystems; and
- WHEREAS, The State of Maryland has managed wildlife habitats and public lands such as Maryland forests and grasslands for decades; and
- WHEREAS, The State of Maryland provides producers with conservation assistance to promote wise conservation stewardship, including the protection and maintenance of pollinators and their habitats on working lands and wildlands.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, WES MOORE, GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF MARYLAND, do hereby proclaim JUNE 16-22, 2025 as MARYLAND POLLINATOR WEEK in Maryland, and do commend this observation to all of our citizens.

Given Under My Hand and the Great Seal of the State of Maryland, this 16th day of June
Two Thousand and twenty-five
