

Pollinators & Seeds

Supporting Healthy Ecosystems and Food Security

How We Eat Plants

A diversity of managed and native pollinators supports healthy wildlands and a nutritious food supply in North America. In turn, native plant communities that sustain pollinators are an essential foundation for ecosystem integrity and diversity. Learn more at www.pollinator.org.

La diversidad de polinizadores nativos y manejados soportan el buen funcionamiento de las áreas naturales así como la disponibilidad de alimentos nutritivos en Norteamérica. Las comunidades de plantas nativas que sostienen a los polinizadores, por su parte, son la base esencial para el mantenimiento de la integridad y diversidad de los ecosistemas. Para más información visite www.pollinator.org.

La présence de pollinisateurs domestiques et sauvages diversifiés assure un environnement et un approvisionnement alimentaire sains en Amérique du Nord. De même, la diversité de plantes indigènes dont dépendent les pollinisateurs est essentielle à l'intégrité de nos écosystèmes. Veuillez consulter pollinator.org pour de plus amples renseignements.
