

CULTIVATING A FUTURE FOR US ALL

Bee Friendly Gardening (BFG) encourages and supports pollinator-friendly practices across North America's public and private gardens and landscapes. These landscapes provide essential habitat to bees and other pollinators, a critical component of a healthy tomorrow. By becoming a BFG member, you will have access to resources and to the growing network of individuals who make a difference for pollinators, people, and the planet.

AN INITIATIVE OF

POLLINATOR PARTNERSHIP

beefriendlygardening.org

WHY BEE FRIENDLY GARDENING?

BFG helps people play a bigger role in the health of pollinators and the planet. Over 85% of North American households have an outdoor living space; by converting these areas to much-needed habitat, together we can have a big impact. Your space can provide support to pollinators and other wildlife - no lawn, garden, balcony, or window box is too small!

BFG MEMBERSHIP

As a BFG member you'll learn about protecting pollinator populations by implementing straightforward changes on your property. For an annual fee of $20 USD, you'll be connected to resources, monthly newsletters, special offers, and community. Once you have a garden in place, you can register your garden, be on our map, have access to a garden sign, and our community science program.

WHAT MAKES A BFG?

- Plants that support pollinators with nectar and pollen resources
- Bloom throughout the growing season
- Nesting habitat for pollinators
- Elimination of harmful pesticides

BFG is a sister program to Bee Friendly Farming, a certification that helps farmers incorporate sustainable practices for pollinators. Look out for the BFF logo on products, and support our farmers.

For resources, planting guides,
and how to join, visit:
beefriendlygardening.org